Advent/Coming

Back in the summer (remember those distant memories of warmth, before winter gripped its icy fingers around our spiralling fuel bills?), at 2022's Greenbelt festival, my favourite speaker was Rowan Williams. You might remember him as the previous Archbishop of Canterbury? But he was there in another capacity, as a poet. Although Rowan might preferred to be referred to as a priest who uses poetry in his ministry, rather than a poet foremost. Having attended his poetry reading, I duly bought his latest book ('Rowan Williams – Collected Poems') and queued to have it signed by the author. If you are looking for a gift for the literary appreciative ones in your life this Christmas, I'd highly recommend it!

Anyway, there is one poem in the book which I have been drawn to many times before at this season of the year: 'Advent Calendar'. The poem was first published in 1994 and was later set to music by Sir Peter Maxwell Davies as one of the 44 Anthems in the Choirbook for the Queen, in 2011. Its story-telling shows the movement of time from late autumn into early winter, as the landscape becomes colder and darker; from fallen leaves, to frost, to snow.

Advent Calendar

He will come like last leaf's fall.
One night when the November wind has flayed the trees to the bone, and earth wakes choking on the mould, the soft shroud's folding.

He will come like frost.
One morning when the shrinking earth opens on mist, to find itself arrested in the net of alien, sword-set beauty.

He will come like dark.
One evening when the bursting red December sun draws up the sheet and penny-masks its eye to yield the star-snowed fields of sky.

He will come, will come,
will come like crying in the night,
like blood, like breaking,
as the earth writhes to toss him free.
He will come like child.

© Rowan Williams

And throughout this passage of time the repeated phrase 'He will come...' reminds us of what Advent is about. Like the call in the carol, 'O Come, O come, Immanuel!', we are reminded that he will come, despite the harshest conditions this world has to offer. Yet even within the world's coldest and darkest days, we are reminded that God's creation yearns to reveal beauty, in the likes of 'snow-stared fields of sky.'

The final verse encapsulates the excitement and danger, the pain and the gift of childbirth. In something as ordinarily human as this the Christ child comes. God comes like child. But not until the world is at its darkest and most bruised and hurting. This is not a sentimental Christmas poem, but it is at its heart a traditional one. Our worship leaders throughout Advent have been telling the traditional story of The Jesse Tree together throughout Advent, based upon Matthew 1.1-17, as we use the genealogy (family tree) of Jesus to help us to realise that God has come.

He will come.
He has come like child.
God has blessed us all!

Prayer for Change

printed simultaneously in the magazines of Lidgett Park, St Andrew's and St Edmund's churches

For unto us a child is born, to us a son is given, and the government will be on his shoulders. And he will be called Wonderful, Counsellor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Isaiah 9:6

At Christmas time we sing carols and hear Bible readings about the Prince of Peace and Peace on earth. Yet as we watch the news we know only too well that the present reality is so different. People are desperate for peace in so many places and situations.

We, who are called to be peacemakers, pray earnestly for peace among all nations.

Let us dedicate ourselves to the work of peace in our neighbourhoods and around the world so that justice peace, equality and love flow to all corners of the earth.

Again Jesus said, "Peace be with you! As the Father has sent me I am sending you". John 20:21

PURPLE BADGE

This year Scouts joined the nation in mourning the loss of our beloved monarch and Patron, Her Majesty The Queen. Her outstanding example of service, encouragement and kindness was an inspiration to us all. We know how much she meant to Scouts around the world, as well as to those in the United Kingdom. She was a constant in a changing world and showed us the true meaning of service and duty.

Throughout seven decades The Queen encouraged Scouts to do their best and do their duty to help other people. With her own shining example of selfless service, she was someone we could all aspire to.

The Queen served in peacetime and in wartime: in the Second World War, the future queen served as a second subaltern—the equivalent of a second lieutenant—in the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service, the women's branch of the British Army. She trained as an auto mechanic.

In remembrance, all Beavers, Cubs, and Scouts were issued with a purple badge for their uniforms - which is pictured.

King Charles takes over as Patron.

DAVID BLACKBURN 10 MAY 1932 - 27 OCTOBER 2022

David was a proud Yorkshireman having been born in Todmorden within a few yards of the border with Lancashire. He and his parents were active members of Queensgate Methodist Church. It was at the church youth club where he met Margaret Kirk whom he would later marry. David and Margaret married in 1955 at Queensgate Methodist Church, Burnley. Karol was born in 1957, Kirk in 1959 and Kathryn in 1964. When they moved to Leeds Margaret became an active member of St Andrew's and David supported many of the activities. Together they made many friends and enjoyed going with them to concerts at Leeds Town Hall. David was a keen Fell walker and bird watcher. He and Margaret attended Yoga classes, enjoyed wonderful holidays, including one with family and friends in the Lake District to celebrate their Golden Wedding in 2005. Sadly Margaret died very suddenly in February 2006 and Kirk died tragically in December 2012.

Growing up David enjoyed playing sports and supported Burnley Football Club at Turf Moor his whole life. David did well at school earning a scholarship to Burnley Grammar School. In 1950 David started two years National Service in the RAF. After this he graduated with a degree in Natural Sciences from Pembroke College, Cambridge University, followed by a course at Manchester Business School. From there he accepted a post in the Research and Development section of Courtoulds Ltd in Droylsden, Manchester. His last post was with Yorkshire Chemicals Ltd in Leeds. Here he was Chief Colourist in the Research and Development department with responsibility for Technical Service world-wide.

Throughout his career David was very supportive of and involved with the Society of Dyers and Colourists (SDC) and served on its governing council and many committees. He was elected President in 1985 and he and Margaret travelled to all the countries where the SDC was active including Hong Kong, China, India and the USA. At the end of his Presidential year he was awarded a Fellowship and became a Chartered Colourist.

December 2022

St Andrew's Roundhay

In 1977 David became a Liveryman of the Worshipful Company of Dyers. Having served the Company well David became Primer Warden in 1994 and then served as a Court Assistant until 2018. Through this he was involved in forming relationships between deprived inner-city schools and the Dyers Company. This involved mentoring children and becoming governors for the schools. David initiated this work which was greatly appreciated by the Company and the schools.

Recently David moved into sheltered accommodation but his health began to deteriorate and the family found him a place in a newly built nursing home in Bradford near daughter Karol. David was extremely proud of his large family who did so much to support him and he took particular delight in his grandchildren and four great grandchildren. He loved his 90th birthday party with the whole family in May which the nursing home provided for him. David passed away peacefully on 27 October.

David was a kind, modest and very generous man and we give thanks for his life and all that he was to his family and friends.

Card Sort and Christingle

You are all invited to come and make a Christingle (or more than 1) in the Roundhay Room on Saturday 17 December at 11am. As before, chefs Tim and Mark will be whipping up their delicious bacon sandwiches to help keep our strength up!

At the same time the Christmas card sort will be taking place so please bring along your cards for folk who attend St Andrew's regularly and they will be able to collect them on Sunday 18 December after worship. (Please don't bring cards for anyone who does not come to church as we will be unable to deliver these.)

Do join us for a morning which is always fun and get into the festive Spirit!

Hate

Ah, here you are my greatest enemy
my long lost foe

For years we have quarrelled battled toe to toe

We have had wins and losses
highs and lows

But is it our fate to spread this hate perhaps we will learn in the depths below

Have you learned anything from all this woe?

That you have got a whole life that won't - for a long time - go

Have you ever heard anything that is good to the ear hate brings buckets fulls of sorrow

Lets put an end to this hate no more guns or bows

Lets turn around our fate
no more people in rows and rows

Remember the consequences of hate

let's not let it be our fate

Elliot Hughes

Age 10

I remember coal fires, warming oneself before the dash
to a freezing bedroom;
a stone hot water bottle
the only warmth between cold white sheets

I remember
the corner shop,
paper bags,
broken biscuits in display tins;
three-penny bits in change,
and people who had time to chat before going on to the the green-grocer's next door.

I remember
country walks, farms with oil-lamps and outside loos;
unspoilt hedge-rows full of flowers, clear flowing streams and dawn choruses.

I remember neighbourhoods where families knew each others' histories;
where doors weren't locked and few felt isolation.
relatives lived only a few doors away.

I remember a simpler, kinder time with no wifi or internet when people conversed face to face and had time to stop and chatter on the door-step

But were these times better?
or do I have a filter in my role-tinted spectacles!

ELMA LISLE 23 NOVEMBER 1926 - 2 November 2022

Elma was born on 23 November 1924 in Brechin, Scotland and was very proud of her Scottish heritage. Elma trained as a domestic science teacher but this career was cut short when she married and had a family. Although George was born and bred in Yorkshire, when war broke out he was sent to serve in the Seaforth Highlanders in Scotland and trained as a Commando in Brechin. George was a committed Christian and went to a service at the local church and Elma's father invited him home to tea. That first meeting with Elma was to lead to their marriage on a snowy day in February 1945, a happy marriage that was to last seventy-one years. After the war Elma and George settled in Leeds and raised a family. They had three children, Elizabeth, Barbara and Rosemary. Sadly Elizabeth died aged forty-four and Barbara when she was fifty. Elma was a Grandma and Great Grandma and very proud of Rachel and Harry.

Elma and George had many happy family holidays and after retirement enjoyed cruises and holidays abroad. They had a long association with North Leeds Cricket Club, watching cricket matches and enjoying the fellowship. Elma loved watching Wimbledon and she and George travelled several times to Wimbledon to see live tennis. She loved quiz programmes and was a keen and highly skilful Bridge player and belonged to several clubs.

Having moved from Roundhay to Weetwood, they moved back to Roundhay in 2003 and started attending St Andrew's regularly where they made many friends. In later years Elma's health declined and she was diagnosed with Parkinson's disease. George became immobile after he broke his leg very badly and went to be looked after at Sabourn Court. Soon after, Elma went to live there so they could be together. George passed away in 2016. Elma remained at Sabourn Court until its closure early this year when she moved over to the east coast to be nearer to Rosemary. She settled well at Pinfield Lodge in Hunmanby where she received excellent care. Elma passed away on the 2 November. We give thanks for Elma's long years and for the selfless love and support given by Rosemary to both her parents over many years.

RoCo

Dramatic Society

On behalf of the RoCo Committee I'd like to thank all of you who supported the production of Cheshire Cats. We are particularly grateful to those who helped with refreshments, stewarding and First Aid provision. We also really appreciate the kindness of regular groups whose bookings had to be modified in some way to allow the production to go ahead.

I am sure you will be pleased to hear that audience donations in aid of Breast Cancer raised nearly £300 for this wonderful charity.

A word about the play's talented producer, Alice Rayner. Many of you will remember Alice and her Mum, Emma-Jane (now Greensted) being a big part of St Andrew's and RoCo life for several years before moving out of the area.

We are delighted that Alice is making her home back in Leeds now and that, following in Emma-Jane's footsteps, she has become an integral part of RoCo, not only as actor and director but in January as the leader of Junior RoCo. Go Alice!!

Finally, might we persuade YOU to get the acting bug or the back stage bug, ready for our next production in late March? If you are interested in becoming involved with RoCo either on or off stage please come to our Read Through/ Audition on Thursday, 5 January at 7.30 pm in the Margaret Fullerton Room. A warm welcome awaits. Please contact me if you would like any further information.

Cheshire Cats

We went to see the new RoCo production on a cold, gloomy November evening, and it proved the perfect antidote, providing both comedic and poignant moments galore.

The storyline followed a group of women from Cheshire raising money for breast cancer by taking part in a charity walk in London. We found out that each lady had her own good reason for walking and these reasons provided some of the most moving lines in the play. As they progressed through their preparations for the walk, their friendships deepened and this bonding process contained many laugh aloud moments.

One of the " Cats " had to drop out at short notice and the last minute replacement was a man. We won't forget in a hurry the sight of Andrew Lamb, dressed in a tutu, skipping through the audience. Another favourite moment was when the railway station announcer was totally unintelligible when giving crucial information to the travellers. We have all been there!

As always RoCo is truly inclusive, and it was lovely to see familiar faces, but it was also great to see so many new, talented actors, a sure sign that RoCo is flourishing.

Eileen and Richard Belverstone.

United Reformed Church Jubilee Celebration

On Wednesday 5 October 2022, the Leeds Mission and Care Group held a special evening to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the United Reformed Church. People were also invited to join on Zoom.

Different members of the Leeds Partnership Ministry Team took part in leading our worship with the evening being hosted by Nicola Robinson.

There was a special cake with candles which were lit and also a 50th Congratulations balloon. The cake was then cut and distributed to enjoy with our coffee.

We took part in a multiple-choice quiz with the theme of the URC over the past 50 years and were invited to share any thoughts about the church and the denomination.

It was also very special that 2 people were present that evening who had attended the inaugural service in London 50 years ago – Mrs Mary Herbert and Rev Robert Way.

Well-known hymns "Be thou my vision" and "Lord for the Years" were sung as well as two new songs written for the Jubilee. I think it would be fair to say, no one found these newer songs easy to sing!

It was disappointing that more people did not attend this event in person but those who did (some 30 attended) enjoyed and appreciated all that had been prepared. Many thanks to Stainbeck URC for their hospitality.

Autumn 2022 Update Israel and the occupied Palestinian territory

Change for the community

Christian Aid's partner the East Jerusalem YMCA (EJ-YMCA) have been working with communities to develop resilience by forming protection groups and developing action plans. The community work together to identify needs and areas for improvement and receive training in applying for grants and voicing community needs with local councils and agencies.

In the Ad Deirat community, an EJ-YMCA grant funded a village clinic refurbishment and expansion. Now instead of queuing outside and then climbing two flights of stairs, patients are able to sit in a waiting room and be treated on the ground floor.

Now that the clinic has been refurbished and signed off by the Ministry of Health, the protection group met with the Palestinian Medical Relief Society (PMRS). They have agreed to send nurses and doctors to staff it regularly and run one off workshops there such as breast cancer awareness raising.

The clinic is now the largest in the area and close to a good road so PMRS are planning to make this an emergency response centre and provide training on first aid to help with this.

Other communities successfully applied for grants to improve road access, refurbish community meeting spaces and provide new toilets to allow an abandoned community space to be turned into a childcare facility.

Outdoor activities at the Protection Groups training day.

As part of the work, EJ-YMCA brings protection groups together for training and peer support. A recent training included learning about human rights law and sharing experiences, but also time for a stress relief session and outdoor activities. These opportunities to meet and relax together have been so important due to the stress of Covid-19 and living under occupation.

Thank you for your support through Commitment for Life which is helping communities develop resilience.

'The clinic is now the largest in the area'

Rise up. Pay up.

Polluters must pay up to repair what's damaged by the climate crisis. The people who have done the least to cause the climate crisis are dealing with damage to harvests and homes, right now. They are losing their lives, land and culture, right now.

Christian Aid have put together a church activity pack to help your church reflect, pray and act on loss and damage. There is also a petition to sign and creative ideas for lobbying your MP.

You can find more information and download the pack at caid.org.uk/climate

These communities demand an international fund to pay for the loss and damage they're facing.
